The Rice public library closes on Saturday night for a period of two weeks, during which time the librarian, Miss Eleanor Lovell, will take her annual vacation.

Mr. Louis Keene was a visitor in Dover Wednesday, driving an auto in the parade there.

The condition of Mr. George Marden remains about the same.

The many friends in town of Mrs. Elmhurst Littlefield, mother of Mr. Frank Parker, will be pained to hear of her sudden death which occurred last week at her home in Wells. The funeral was held on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Keene, who have been visiting the former's family, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Keene, returned to their home in Quincy, Mass., today.

A number of local people attended the Old Home Week celebration at Dover on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Brackett, who have been visiting their daughter, Mrs. Harry Watts, have returned to their home in Gorham, Me.

Mrs. Charles Woods of Locke's Cove drove an automobile in the parade in Dover Wednesday.

Miss Alice Mills of the Intervene was a visitor in Portsmouth Wednesday evening.

Mr. Joseph Waite and daughter, Josephine, have returned from Tamworth, N. H. Mrs. Waite is still in there.

Many Kittery people enjoyed the motion pictures of Portsmouth at the Portsmouth theatre last evening.

Herbert Moran Began Working For Boston While in Cincinnati

HERBERT MORAN

Boston, August 26.—Herbert Moran, the outfielder recently bought by the Boston Braves from Cincinnati, began working for Stallings before leaving Cincinnati, that the work was all in the game and part of his regular activities as an outfielder. In the last game of the mid-summer of the first game between Cincinnati and New York Giants Moran came to bat with the score tied, a man on first and two out. Moran hit the ball for two bases, securing the run needed to win the game and set the Giants back to a tie with Boston, and then he went to the clubhouse and doffed his Cincinnati uniform. He took a train that night for Chicago, where he joined the Braves and took part in a game the next day. Moran's hitting is expected to aid Stallings' tribe in his dash for the pennant.

DAILY SPORT LETTER

(By Frank G. Monke)

New York, Aug. 27.—Just about three weeks more and the bulk of our refined young college athletes will proceed about the business of fracturing each other's bones so as to add more honor and glory to their Alma Maters.

They pry the lid off the football season on September 19 with a number of high school games and two real games—Carlisle vs. Albright at Carlisle, Pa., and the University of Maine vs. Fort McKinley at Orono, Me.

On the Saturday following, about a score more of the big colleges will start their first games, and the schedule for the 3rd of October shows that every institution in the country will have its gridiron army in action.

The biggest game of the year will be the Harvard-Michigan combat at Cambridge on October 31. The Harvard outfit with Brinkley, Mahan and a half dozen other of the 1913 champions, will have a team that should rank as wonderful as any that ever battled for the Crimson.

Michigan lost Craig, its wonderful half-back of 1913, through graduation, and several others of the 1913 team will be missing, but "Hurry Up" Yost feels confident that he can weld together a team that can give the Easterners a real battle—and no alibis if they lose.

"The game with Harvard this year will determine Michigan's standing for the past 15 years and the next 10 years," Yost told his pupils. "In meeting Harvard we will meet the best there is in the East. We will encounter a style of play that is different than ours, and different than we have met before."

Michigan's reputation in the football world is at stake in this game. A decisive victory for Michigan will bear us out in our contention for twelve or thirteen years—that the western teams on the average are superior to the best in the East. A defeat, even if our team is not up to the old Michigan standard, shatters our contention. So we must not lose. We must win."

Quite a number of college coaches whose proteges have been beaten up in other years by the Carlisle Indians now seem to have "discovered" a good excuse to duck out of scheduling a game with the Indians in 1915.

The Indians are talented!!! They get real money for playing. Honest, they do. And the strange part of it is they aren't ashamed to admit now, and never have made any secret of it in the past. Probably the rival coaches wouldn't get so exercised about it if those Indians had given their teams half a chance in past football arguments. But they haven't. They just met the white enemy and wallowed them until they were tired. Then they rested and renewed the wallowing.

The fact that the Indian players get a divvy of the gate receipts never has been disguised by Coach Glen Warner. The school, being a government proposition, does not feel that it can conscientiously accept the big sums realized from football for the general maintenance of the college. The football expenses each year do not total over $30,000—sometimes less.

Warner took a contract to coach the school. He did it on something like a commission basis. He agreed to take all the receipts and pay all the expenses. The rest was to be his for services. But Warner never has kept all the receipts. He has deducted for himself each year a portion that would be equivalent to what he would get if he were a salary man. The balance he has pocketed equally among the team members. These facts are public property, as the books at the Indian school will show just what the Boston people have been each year and just what all position has been made of the funds.

GODWIN FAMILY REUNION

The latest descendants of Daniel Goodwin who settled in Kittery in 1652, comprising the Daniel Goodwin Association are holding their seventh annual reunion in Quamquam Park today, Thursday. At noon a fish dinner was served. The General Ichabod Goodwin house erected in 1797 will be open for the inspection of the members of the Goodwin family during the afternoon. This is one of the oldest and most interesting Colonial houses in New England.

ENGLAND FEARS THE GERMAN AIRSHIPS

London, Aug. 26.—Reports from Ostend today say the German attack on the city has been renewed. Scouts report heavy bodies of German reinforcements coming up and it is believed the city will be forced to surrender.

Steamers arriving at Folkestone report the presence of English warships near the Ostend harbor.

The London newspapers say the capture of Ostend by the Germans will be a direct menace to England, inasmuch as it is only 66 miles off the British coast. They profess to believe it is the intention of the German general staff to take the city and then to mount heavy guns to protect it from raids by sea.

The danger of Zeppelin raids is also discussed at length. There is no disguising the fear England has toward these "cultures of the air," as they are described in today's reports from Vienna. The narrow escape of the royal palace, at Antwerp in yesterday's raid shows that the Zeppelins operated by an expert—and Count Zeppelin, despite his great age, has volunteered to operate one in person—can become a real menace. The distance across the channel from Ostend would be easily negotiated.

The bitterness of the feeling against England, and the fact that up to the present the British fleet is intact, may lead the Germans to undertake an aerial raid which might have serious results. In addition the Daily Mail, in discussing the almost certain capture of Ostend today, says:

"From a naval standpoint Ostend is well equipped to serve as a refuge and harbor. If it were strongly held by land several warships might attempt a dash there from Wilhelmshaven or Heligoland. Once under the protection of the land guns they would have a base for raids against channel shipping."

Other experts take a contrary view, however. They say the British fleet could bottle up Ostend as effectively as they already have bottled up the great German ports, and they insist the only advantage Germany will get from holding Ostend will be a base for an aerial raid.

them being four women; eight have been injured, several mortally. One bomb has been exploded above the palace where the Queen and royal children were living. The material damage is considerable. The bombardment constitutes a violation of art. 26 of the first convention of The Hague.

The legation later received news of a Belgian victory over the Germans at Vilvorde, between Brussels and Antwerp, yesterday. The dispatch says that three German divisions were repulsed with heavy losses.

FRANCIS DECLINES PLACE

Washington, Aug. 26.—David R. Francis of St. Louis, former governor of Missouri, yesterday declined appointment as the first Ambassador to Argentina. He had been selected to succeed John W. Garrett. After conferences with President Wilson and Secretary Bryan, Mr. Francis firmly decided not to take the place. Mr. Francis was urged to accept the ambassadorship but told officials that his business required his continued presence in the United States. No one has been determined upon yet for the place.

AMERICAN MINISTER TO BELGIUM SENDS PROTEST

London, August 26th.—A dispatch to the London war office by the way of Antwerp says that Brani Whitlock, the American minister to Belgium, sent an energetic protest to the German government against a throng of bombs on Antwerp.

CLOSED VERA CRUZ AS A PORT

Mexico City, Aug. 26.—Provisional President Carranza has notified the authorities of ports other than Vera Cruz that Vera Cruz is closed as a port, on account of the occupation of the city and harbor by the American forces.

Reports received from the south are not reassuring concerning the exact whereabouts of Gen. Teller, who, with 5000 men of the old army, is said to have rebelled at Salina Cruz and marched northward.

A train on the Vera Cruz & Isthmus Railroad was fired on yesterday by a party whose identity is unknown and a freight train on the Mexican line, heading ahead of the train on which Sir Lionel Carden, the British Minister, was proceeding to Vera Cruz, also was attacked. Two men were killed on this train. Whether Constitutionists or Federalists made the attack is unknown here.

$5000 FIRE IN NASHUA

Canal St. Building Damaged and Three Families Driven Out—Rescues by Firemen and Others.

Nashua, N. H., Aug. 26.—A fire at 6.15 this morning did $5000 damage to the building of Abraham Keryall, 66, 68 and 69 Canal street, besides driving three families and a number of lodgers into the street. The household goods of the families of John B. Keryall, Telephone Dufur and Mrs. Celia Lavender were much damaged.

The fire started in the pool and blue blacking rooms of Loupas & Karyall. Noe Karyall, a lodger, discovered the smoke and rushed out. Thirty men, arousing all the occupants of the building, he grappled two children and brought them to safety and then went back and assisted others. Frank Hoyer, another lodger, climbed out of a front window upon a steel bar from which a sign had been suspended and dropped 25 feet, spraining an ankle. The firemen rescued Mrs. Lavender and her two daughters, Olive and Mary by a ladder from the top floor. This family have been burned out four times.

WILL AMEND THE WAR RISK BILL

Washington, Aug. 26.—Conferences between members of the House and Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo over the war risk insurance bill, now pending before the House have resulted so far by the probability that important amendments will be offered to the measure. Radically changing its avowed purpose as a purely emergency measure. These amendments will give the Government the power to make rates and to deem advisable after the conclusion of the war. Representative Lewis of Maryland, the author of the first war risk bill before the House, has had assurances from Mr. McAdoo that some changes in this direction will be supported by the Administration on the ground that it is not just to the Government merely to take a risk which private capital will not take and then step out entirely. Representative Lewis advocates an amendment allowing the President to discontinue the proposed Bureau of Marine Insurance if an experience is found that it is not a practicable scheme. The war risk insurance bill is ready to come up before the House tomorrow. It cannot come up today because it is calendar Wednesday.

Every lover of Portsmouth will be at the Portsmouth Theatre this week to see "Parliament in Motion Pictures."

AUTO IN COLLISION ON MARKET STREET

A two horse team owned by Thomas Flynn, and driven by a man named Woods, was run into on Market street, Wednesday afternoon by an automobile owned by Eda Doherty of Kittery. The wagon loaded with coal was standing still and the auto struck it side on, knocking down the horses, both of which were badly bruised. They cleared themselves and ran away, knocking down Paul Gould, who was riding his bicycle. Gould was not injured but the bicycle was ruined. The automobile was put out of commission, the radiator being smashed and the front axle in. It was towed to the Portsmouth Motor Mart. The occupants of the car were not injured.

GOLDEN GATE TO GOTHAM VIA PANAMA CANAL

New York, Aug. 26.—The first voyage from San Francisco to New York by way of the Panama Canal was completed here today upon the arrival of the steamer, the Luckenbach Steamship Company. The steamer, which flew an American flag, sailed from San Francisco on July 24 and passed through the canal on Aug. 16. She is one of a fleet of ten steamships which the company will operate between New York and San Francisco.

MORE AMERICANS ARRIVE FROM EUROPE

New York, Aug. 26.—Nearly 1500 Americans, stranded in Europe at the outbreak of the war, reached New York today with varying tales of hardship—some of them with vivid stories of fighting effort and ashore—on the Scandinavian Line steamer Oscar II, from Copenhagen, and the Italian liner Taormina, from Genoa, Palermo and Naples.

Among the Oscar's passengers was a party of three who saw from the deck of the ship a British collier blown up by a mine in the river Elbe on Aug. 2.

AMERICAN WOMEN IN NEED

Many Are Reported Living on Sufferance or Put Out on Street in Germany.

Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 25. via Paris, Aug. 26.—Four Americans made their way on foot across the German frontier at Basel yesterday. They were without money and had been without food for some time. Their names have not been learned.

Fragmentary information reaching Americans here by letter from Germany, indicates that there are still many American tourists stranded in hotels and boarding houses in German cities. They are mostly women, and in many cases their financial resources are limited. Some of them have no money at all.

They are described as not infrequently living on sufferance, subjected to discourtesies and occasionally put out upon the streets without their baggage. In some cases they have had to sell their clothes for food.

BRECKENRIDGE LEAVES BERLIN FOR VIENNA

Berlin, Aug. 26, by wireless telegraphy to the Associated Press, by way of Nauen, Ger., and Sayville, L. I.—Henry S. Breckenridge, the American Assistant Secretary of War, accompanied by a group of officers from the American cruiser Tennessee, left here today for Vienna.

Mr. Breckenridge and his staff are distributing to needy Americans the financial relief sent to the Continent by the American Government on the Tennessee.

WAR REVENUE INEVITABLE

Washington Leaders Believe Legislation Will Be Necessary; but It Will Not Be Put Ahead of Pending Measures.

Washington, Aug. 26.—War revenue legislation, according to Administration leaders, is inevitable, but will not be undertaken until both houses are ready to consider it without interference of other legislation. Majority Leader Underwood said today that President Wilson was convinced of the necessity of new taxes to replenish falling customs; but that he wanted trust legislation to be out of the way before addressing Congress on the subject. "We will do nothing in the House on the war revenue measure," said Mr. Underwood, "until the Senate assures us that it is ready to proceed. Any war tax measure naturally disturbs business, and when it is decided what should be done the legislation should be consummated without delay."

BRYAN RECEIVES PROTEST AGAINST ZEPPELIN ATTACK

Washington, Aug. 26.—Minister Hainault of Belgium, on behalf of the Belgian foreign minister, filed a protest with Secretary of State Bryan today against the depredations of the German Zeppelins over Antwerp, causing the death of many non-combatants. Secretary Bryan acknowledged the receipt of the protest, but declined to take any further steps at the time.

The protest of the Belgian foreign office filed by Minister Hainault was as follows:

"During the night of the 24th to 26th a dirigible balloon, a Zeppelin, flew over the city of Antwerp at a steep height and threw successfully a series of bombs of great exploding strength. According to our investigation, conducted by the judicial court, there have been 10 killed, all harmless civilians, among Portsmouth, N. H., Thursday, August 27, 1914.

Confirmation Awaited.

The Wall Street Journal refuses to believe without absolute confirmation that Germany has demanded an indemnity of $40,000,000 from the city of Brussels, as reported. When the report of the demand was published a few days ago it startled the people of the world, who feel that there should be a certain amount of decency and consideration even in time of war, but because of the terrible state of affairs in Europe and the excited condition of the public mind it is probable that the report of this mighty and cruel exaction was generally believed.

It may be true, but without indisputable confirmation the New York publication referred to will refuse to give it credence. In spite of the passion and turmoil of the time the Journal insists that Germany is a civilized nation, and that such a demand as it is alleged to have made upon the city of Brussels should be expected only from barbarians and brigands.

How soon the actual truth regarding the matter will be ascertained it is impossible to tell, as there is a good deal of uncertainty in connection with news from the Old World at the present time. It may well be hoped, for the sake of the German nation and humanity as a whole, that the story of this outrageous exaction of blood money will prove to be unfounded.

At the present time there is a good deal of prejudice against Germany, which is generally charged with responsibility for the war. That charge may be, and appears to be, well founded, but that the war is to be conducted on her part as a war of robbery and plunder it is permissible to doubt. Germany has long been one of the leading nations in all that constitutes national greatness, and has been so recognized the world over. At this distance it looks as if she were seriously at fault in plunging all Europe into an unparalleled war, but even this awful misstep does not justify rating her as a barbarous nation, and she would be nothing less if the report of this cruel and extraordinary exaction were true.

Possibly the Wall Street Journal is selling a good example by refusing to believe all the rumors from the Old World without some measure of substantiation.

Congressman Mann is of the opinion that "if there is any useless body or theory anywhere at the present time it is the Hague Peace Tribunal." It must be admitted that this tribunal, born of the highest motives and purest impulses, does wear a rather sickly look just at this time.

It has been decided to go ahead with the Panama-Pacific exposition without regard to the war. But the war cannot fail to detract largely from the success of the enterprise, which will undoubtedly yield a very substantial deficit. World wars and world fairs do not go well together.

There is too much violence in connection with the street railway strike at Northampton, Mass., as is the case with most strikes of any consequence. Of course, strikers never resort to violence, but in times of trouble their "sympathizers" are very numerous and very troublesome.

Verily, there is no great loss without some small gain. Canadians are rushing into Maine to avoid the possibility of being drafted into the army, and help in the potato fields of the Pine Tree state was never so plentiful and cheap.

The national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will open at Detroit August 31, and this year the old soldiers will have something to talk about besides their experiences back in the sixties.

In some cities drivers are being fined for running their automobiles with the cutouts open. That offense is annoying, but not nearly so serious as many others of which automobilists are guilty.

The department of agriculture forecasts an apple crop of more than 210,000,000 bushels. Wonder what effect that will have on the price.

It is to be hoped that the trouble between Japan and Germany in the Pacific may be confined to those two nations.

Many Americans admit that they skip some of the proper names in reading the war news.

Mexico is not yet a country without a problem.

PEOPLES' OPINION

The Fire Alarm

Editor Herald:—As there is talk and need of improvement in the fire alarm system and the placing of an air whistle on the central fire station on Court street, would it not be a good idea to look over the old building, also the tower to see what condition they are in? It is said that there is considerable vibration to the tower when the wind is strong from the northeast. Would it not be economy to build a new central fire station and provide a suitable place for the apparatus which is now at the building on Hanover street, and for the whistling apparatus which is talked of? These old buildings have outlived their usefulness and should be replaced by one modern building with fire proof quarters for the alarm. Sell the building and lot on Hanover street.

HIGH PRIESTS OF THE EAST

American Section of the Theosophical Society Begin a Three Days' Session.

Washington, August 27.—Washington today is the mecca of the high priests of the East. The annual convention of the American section of the Theosophical Society opened here this morning and will remain in session for several days. Five hundred delegates, many of whom have come from beyond the seas are attending the convention.

The Theosophical Society radiates from the Adyar in India and even the American branch bears the stamp of the East. It claims to introduce a philosophy of life which brings science and religion into harmony. Man and universe are riddles which the society undertakes to solve. The three principal objects of the Theosophical Society are:

"To furnish a nucleus of the universal brotherhood of humanity.
"To investigate unexplained laws of nature and the powers latent in man.
"To investigate the famous gospels of Jesus, Buddha, Krishna, and other great sages of the world, and to bring them into harmony with modern science and philosophy." The society was founded by Mrs. H. P. Blavatsky and Col. Henry Steel Olcott in New York in 1875. It now has branches in 23 countries and a total membership of 25,000. There are 200 lodges in the United States and Canada with a combined membership of 6000. For the last six or eight years the society's conventions have been held in Chicago.

CITY NEWS

The improvements to be made on Deer street will cause the removal of a large number of poles of the New England Telephone Co., Postal Telegraph Co., and the Rockingham County Light and Power Co. The poles of the last named corporation, located at the corner of Deer and High streets are the largest in the city and the relocation means a large amount of work. One pole, recently put in place is buried in cement and the construction crew will have their hands full handling the big stick.

T. J. Sullivan of Roxbury, a former met inspector for the bureau of Animal Industry is back in Portsmouth for a short stay where he is filling his old position and relieving Inspector Everett Beck who is away for two weeks. "Sully" as he is commonly known, looks right at home on his old job and it is safe to say he was delighted to return to this city where he has a host of friends and acquaintances. Mr. Sullivan has seen the greatest part of the United States and is one of the men who always has a good word for the old city by the sea, and his friends hope some day to make him a permanent resident.

Frank Huglof, a resident of New York city who is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Hett at their summer home at Wallis Sands is credited with a quick trip from his home to Portsmouth on a motorcycle. He left the Bronx at 3.30 a. m. and 4.45 p. m., arrived here making one stop for lunch at Springfield, Mass. The New York man calls this a slow trip but it looks from the outside as if he had something on the fast trains of the New Haven and B. and M. lines. He left for home today and expects to make better time going back.

Portsmouth people who visited Dover on Wednesday and witnessed the civic parade were delighted with the whole thing. The floats were especially attractive and the affair in general was a credit to the city up the river. It is the biggest event Dover has seen in years and the residents are to be congratulated in their efforts to boom the old town.

The Postal Telegraph Co., Thomas Sherry, Charles W. Green and others occupying the rooms at No. 10, 12, and 14 Congress street will shortly remove to new quarters. Mr. Sherry

CURRENT OPINION

Germany Knew War Was Inevitable Moment Triple Entente Was Concluded.

Germany cannot lose. We Germans knew that war was inevitable the moment the triple entente was concluded. It was not a union for the preservation of the peace of Europe, but for aggression against Germany. We have been preparing ever since with redoubled energy, and we are as ready as a nation ever has been or ever can be.

You here in America cannot know what has been the nervous tension under which we have lived in Germany during the last four years. We knew that the danger was ever coming nearer. We knew that we could do nothing to avert it. We knew that its aim was to crush Germany forever.

Don't believe that this is the war of a single party in the empire, wantonly begun against the desire of the German people. The nation and its ruler and the government are one in this cause, which is the cause of the continued existence of the empire and its civilization. No wonder that our people have welcomed this war. It was a relief to all of us when the tension was broken by our enemies. We could not have stood it much longer.—By Dr. Hans Helm, President Society of German Authors.

"PORTSMOUTH IN MOVING PICTURES"

This picture will be shown at the end of the performance. Come and see it.

THE HERALD HEARS

That a case of reckless auto driving will be heard in the district court this afternoon.

That the case comes out of an accident on the Greenland road on Tuesday night.

That it is understood that civil action will be taken in the case.

That the mahogany furniture reported at city hall is yet to come.

That the old war veterans report a delightful time at the Weirs.

That it looks like a busy season for the board of registrars.

That a number of Portsmouth people will watch the fireworks display at Dover tonight.

That the Warren Brothers intend to have most of the street work done before cold weather.

That Portsmouth firemen will look their prettiest in Dover today.

That the bottling department of the several local brewing plants are doing much overtime work.

That nobody appears to be howling for free toll bridges lately.

That the primary election will take place on Tuesday next.

That a large vote is expected compared with previous years.

That the primary means a lot to a candidate, and much more to the voter.

That no man with his name on the voting list should refuse to vote.

That the farm connected with the state hospital at Concord will produce 5,000 bushels of potatoes this year.

BIG GATHERING OF REPUBLICANS

he said "It is a straight road on the main highway to sanity and safety and to prosperous conditions."

He stated that the Republicans wanted in the United States Senate a man who was able to untangle the great mass of European wreckage, and it was the hide-bound duty of the party to send back a man of long experience and sound discretion.

He closed by urging the Republicans of Rockingham county to go out and see how large a vote they could roll up in the primaries and the voters of Merrimack county would try to equal it.

Both candidates for the nomination of governor, Rosecrans W. Pillsbury of Londonderry and Roland S. Spaulding of Rochester, were present. Mr. Spaulding, first being called on, he spoke briefly on the interest of good government and prosperity of the people and stated that he should labor hard for the success of the party in November.

Cyrus Sulloway, the veteran member of the party and a candidate for the nomination of congressman from the first district gave a spirited speech in which he moved the audience to frequent applause and bursts of laughter. He predicted that Chandler would be returned to the senate by a majority of 5,000 to 15,000.

"Why they say that old Cy Sulloway has been raked out of the graveyard," he said, in speaking of himself. "But," he added, "it is true I have come from the graveyard, but I have left the most of the inmates there and they are Democrats."

He severely scored the Progressives and said that the first thing to do was to turn out every living rascal who has betrayed us. "Most of those who have left us," he added "are boys, while the older ones have been loyal to the party."

Rosecrans W. Pillsbury followed with a fiery address and during his discourse remarked that he was elected as a candidate because he was a man likely to tear up Democrats by the roots at the next campaign, and that he certainly would like the job. He said that he party had no place for those who were opposed to the Republican party and its issues, but that they were willing to welcome with arms those who would work for the good of the party.

Col. Rufus N. Elwell spoke on the success of the party and stated that he was for protection to the American industries; that the Rockingham County Republican Club made no favorites at the primaries, but worked hard for the election of the candidates after the nomination. Col. Elwell is also a candidate for the nomination of congressman from the first district.

Candidates for the nomination of state senator from the 21st district, Herbert Perkins of Hampton, and Clarence M. Collins to Danville, both made brief remarks.

Joseph Matthews and George A. Wood of Portsmouth, collector of internal revenue also spoke. Among the candidates present were John W. A. Green and Robert Scott of Exeter for register of deeds and probate respectively; Ernest L. Guptill of Portsmouth and William H. Sleeper of Exeter, both for county solicitor; William B. Underhill of Chester, Norman H. Beane of Portsmouth for county commissioners; John Seamon of Exeter for councillor; Sherman T. Newton and Percy Stoddard of Portsmouth, both for senator from the 24th district, and many candidates for representatives to the legislature.

LECTURES AT ELIOT.

The following lectures will be given at Dr. Moore's camp at Eliot: Friday morning at 8.30, Mr. Lazenby of England will speak on "Walt Whitman and War."

Saturday morning at 9.30 Mrs. May Wright Sewall will speak on "The Story of the Woman Movement in 1914." Mrs. Sewall is a member of the International Council of Women, having served two terms as president and is now honorary president.

Vote For Rufus N. Elwell For Congress

Near the close of the campaign for nominations in the primaries, Rufus N. Elwell, of Exeter, seems to be far in the lead as a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress in this district.

Col. Elwell, though the youngest of the candidates, has had much experience in legislation, and has always been attentive to his duties and a strong and active worker for what has been for the best interest of the state. He deserves, and should receive, a large vote of endorsement at the primaries, Tuesday, Sept. 1st.

CLOSER VEIL DRAWN OVER WAR NEWS

(Special to The Herald)

London, Aug. 27.—A closer veil than ever seems to be drawn over the progress of the war. Very little news comes to hand concerning the operations on either frontier. The Russians appear to be continuing their advance in East Prussia toward Posen with the Germans in retreat.

The only news from the French side is that the French troops were attacked along the Alsace-Lorraine line, but repulsed all attacks successfully. There is no indication that the German attack was in very great force, but if it was the French success shows they are now in a strong position along this frontier, from which they will be driven only by great sacrifice on the part of the Germans.

A more hopeful feeling prevails in England as to the strength of the French defensive positions. The repulse which the French suffered at the Charleroi has been partly due to the

RUSSIAN SUCCESSES CAUSE PANIC IN BERLIN

(Special to The Herald)

London, Aug. 27.—Despite the German efforts to minimize the extent and importance of the Russian victories," says the Standard's Copenhagen correspondent, "the German public apparently is by no means satisfied of its security. A panic seems imminent in Berlin. Wealthy Germans already are leaving the city and hastening toward Scandinavia by way of Copenhagen. A number of these already have passed through this city."

NAVAL BATTLE OFF DELAWARE COAST?

(Special to The Herald)

Cape Penelope, Del., Aug. 27.—A naval battle is believed to have taken place off Cape Penelope early today. Gun flashes, evidently of cannon fire, could plainly be seen from the shore at 2 o'clock this morning. At about 5 o'clock the glare of flames was seen and it was judged that one of the ships was on fire. Three hours afterwards the wreckage began drifting ashore. Spars and part of the hull of the ship were found on the beach.

READY FOR THE BIG SHOW

Rivalry Keen in the Athletic Contest to Be Held at Rockingham Fair.

If the National A. A. U. officials decide that Howard P. Drew, the wonderful colored boy from Springfield, now a student at the University of California, is eligible to compete in the New England Amateur Championship at the Rockingham Fair next week there will be a trinity of the greatest amateur sprinters in America start in these games for Charlie Rice, the New England inter-collegian champion and H. H. Seward, the National Inter-Collegian champion have already made entries for the one hundred yard dash and the two hundred yard dash.

The New England A. A. U. claim that Drew is a resident of Massachusetts and that he will be ineligible to run for the Los Angeles Athletic Club, even if he is a student of the University of California. If the National A. A. U. Committee decides with the New England body then there is a great of his duplicating 9 3-5 seconds for the one hundred. He was caught in 9 3-5 seconds in a race in California but the A. A. U. did not allow it. With Rice and Seward pushing him hard, it is very probable that the colored boy will have to run in record time in order to win.

Another record is likely to be shattered in the 440 yard run as Tom Hupla the wonderful Boston A. A. quarter miler has announced that he is going to go after the record of 47 seconds made by Maxey Long on a straightaway at the Gutterburg running track, New York.

In the half mile run, Dave Caldwell the Cornell runner who represents the Boston A. A. looks like the strongest contender. He has run a half mile in 1:53 2-5 seconds and at the inter-collegian championship beat Brown of Yale and Meredith of the University of Pennsylvania. Burke of the Lehigh College, Penn., is one of the most prominent entries of the half mile.

Norman Taber, the Oxford, England mile runner is back home in America, and he has made an entry for the mile run. He is in good shape and will undoubtedly push powers, the Boston A. A. runner to his limit. Powers is the man who created a new amateur record in Australia, when he ran a mile in 1:38 1-5.

In the six pound shot event will be Larry Whitney of Dartmouth who won this event at the inter-collegian and National A. A. U. Championships. Whitney defeated Patty McDonald, of the Irish-American A. A. of New York.

It has been a great many years since the rivalry for honors in the New England Amateur Athletic Championships has been so keen. The Boston A. A. and the Irish-American A. A. of Boston are bitter rivals and will put every available man that has a chance of winning into the game. This is the first time that the Irish-American A. A. has figured prominently in the championship games and they are going to do their utmost to put down the shield offered by the association.

The National Championships take place shortly after the New England Championships and the winners of the New England games will be sent to the National Championships at Baltimore at the expense of the New England Association. The entries do not close until Saturday, but George V. Brown of the Boston A. A. states that there will be over 200 athletes to participate in the games.

ELIOT

Rosemary cottage closed Wednesday for the season. The closing feature was a huge bon-fire on Tuesday evening at the edge of the field near Rosemary Junction and on an elevation high enough to be visible for some distance. This is an ideal location and greatly regretted that the cottage cannot be used the year round for some worthy cause.

A fire caught in the dry grass in Ed. Bartlett's field Wednesday afternoon, presumably set by a passing locomotive. The gang of Italians working on the track close by rushed to the scene and with their shovels made short work of it. This is one on the fire patrol, who was not in evidence at the time.

Lanier Camp closes today. Baggage and express business keeps the station force hustling. This has been a busy week and is very suggestive of the passing of summer and the nearness of fall, although fewer visitors than usual have come to Eliot this season. We do miss those few when they leave us. Drawing the shades and fastening the shutters brings a sense of loneliness to those of us who are left behind.

All roads lead to Dover today, the closing day of Old Home Week. Dover certainly has done itself proud in this its first attempt. There has been a royal welcome for all. Everyone felt it and the battleship Montana's searchlight said so. The parade was certainly a splendid feature.

It is reported that the Methodist picnic to York Beach netted about four dollars over and above expenses. A financial success, surely. But how about the Atlantic Shore Line's profit? We hear and not to the credit of some of the young men either, that they proceeded to make "rough house" of it. We regret that this element, so often found at social gatherings, are so dense that they can never be made to understand that there is a limit, also a time and place to work off all their surplus energy. It might not be out of place to suggest the wood pile behind the barn as a less conspicuous place for their activities.

Mrs. Charles Craig took an auto party to Dover on Tuesday. They made a splendid showing in their flag-decorated Cadillac.

Mr. and Mrs. Crowley, who have been guests at Meadowland Farm, have returned to their home in Charlestown. These cool days are splendid, but we are forcibly reminded that about the next thing in order is an account of stock in the coal bin, an occasion when the financial stringency threatens a positive panic.

"TRIMMING A RUBE."

Nichols and Sherwood scored a great hit with the audience at Portsmouth Theatre this afternoon in their comedy character sketch, "Trimming a Rube." This team is one of the top-notchers in vaudeville and their skill is the most humorous seen in this city for some time. A chorus girl, stranded in a large city, starts to trim a rube whom she meets. He falls for her game at first, but later turns the tables on her.

Massachusetts Northeastern Railway Carrying Out a Safety First Policy.

The Massachusetts Northeastern Street Railway has taken a novel step in carrying out its "safety first" policy. The company has issued some circular stickers, on which are printed the words "Safety First." Watch "Your Step. Avoid accidents." The cars of the company are literally covered with these stickers, and thereby attract much attention. The old legend, "Avoid accidents; wait until the car stops," is seldom noticed now, nor heeded.

It would be a good idea if the local electric roads adopted the policy of the Massachusetts company and had similar stickers on their cars.

RUSSIA MAKING STEADY ADVANCE INTO GERMANY

Have Driven Back Germans to Principal Fortifications--Many Guns and Prisoners Taken.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 26.—Russian armies having their bases at Gumbinnen in the north and Blatz in the south are co-operating today in an effort to drive the Germans from the lake regions of eastern Prussia.

The attacking front spreads over 60 miles of country and is passing through very difficult country, filled with forests, marshes and lakes. They are commanded by German redoubts heavily manned with light artillery and rapid-fire guns and the fighting is constant.

The Germans are reported to be inflicting as much damage as possible and then retreating, blowing up their positions before abandoning them. They are falling back on their main lines of fortifications, which have already been located by the Russian army airplanes.

Because of the difficulty of the positions and the strength of the parallel lines of forts forming the first real line of the German defense, it is believed there will be no frontal attack in force, but that an attempt will be made to envelope the German position and overwhelm it by a flank attack.

Routed at River Sereth

The general staff announces that the Austrians who yesterday gathered in force along the river Sereth near Tarnopol, have been attacked by Cossacks and completely routed. In this attack the Russians took five guns and much general equipment and 300 prisoners.

They also shot an Austrian airplane to pieces, bringing it down a wrecked mass. Two officers in it were crushed to death and the pilot, a sergeant, was injured and taken prisoner.

The German army of eastern Prussia is declared to be demoralized. Part of it has taken refuge in the Königsberg fortress and many of the soldiers in their flight are reported to have abandoned their knapsacks and rifles. This force is said to be a part of the 20th Prussian army corps. Reviewing the fighting between Insterburg and Augherburg, the official statement says:

"On Aug. 23 and 24, in the region north of Königsberg we fought a successful engagement with the 20th German army corps. The latter occupied the fortified positions of Oranien and Frankenhof. On Sunday and Monday our troops charged, entanglements and, using hand grenades and bayonets, managed to penetrate the German defense line. The Germans were forced to retreat so precipitantly that they abandoned on the field several cannon, nine rapid fire guns and much equipment. We took 1100 prisoners.

"The Germans are now concentrating again and another general battle is expected."

London, Aug. 26.—According to a dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Exchange Telegraph Company, German troops retreating in the direction of Osterode, Prussia, left behind them about 100 pieces of artillery.

London, Aug. 26.—The Russian embassy is in receipt of telegrams from the general staff at St. Petersburg which announce fresh Russian victories against both Germany and Austria. The messages declare Russian troops now occupy the whole of the eastern and southern half of eastern Prussia.

Amount of Gt. Britain's War Loan Not Yet Fixed.

London, Aug. 26.—David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, today introduced in the House of Commons a resolution as the basis for the forthcoming war loan bill. The bill, Mr. Lloyd-George said, would "ter from the previous war loan measures in two respects."

First.—The actual amount of money to be taken has not been fixed. The sum to be raised will include not only the vote of credit for $500,000,000 already authorized, but the sum by which the revenue will be diminished in consequence of the war.

Second.—The bill will not indicate the precise method by which the money is to be raised. That will be left to the discretion of the treasury, to be decided according to the conditions prevailing.

Germany is in Ignorance of Outside World News.

London, Aug. 26.—That the Germans are in almost total ignorance of any news from the outside world or even of important domestic happenings is emphasized by a copy of the Berlin Tageblatt, dated Aug. 23, which arrived here today by way of Holland.

The Tageblatt contains a "rumor" of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson's death, but the paper declares it is unable to confirm it.

The escape of the German cruisers Goeben and Brézel from Messina is announced, but the people of the German capital still believe the ships are ready for action in the Mediterranean. Not a whisper has been heard of the real fate of the warships.

The Germans also still are ignorant of the destruction of any Zeppelin dirigible balloons.

King Albert with His Troops in the Field.

Paris, Aug. 26.—A dispatch to the Havas Agency from Antwerp says King Albert is at present with the Belgian army headquarters, which have been re-established at Malines.

Two Saxon princes, the correspondent continues, have installed themselves in the royal chateau at Loeven, a suburb of Brussels.

Another dispatch to the Havas Agency from Berne, Switzerland, says the German government has admonished the public to be economical in the use of kerosene and gasoline.

BOSTON LETTER

What Is Going on at the Hub.

Boston, August 27.—That the cotton industry throughout New England will be doomed materially as a result of the European war is the consensus of opinion of the agents of the largest mills in Lowell. A new market for the goods will be found in South America, and New England will get the bulk of the cotton trade that heretofore went to England and Germany. Agent M. A. Rawlinson of the Tremont and Suffolk mills said: "The tendency is in the right direction. The New England mills should benefit by the condition of the markets in South America, resulting from the closing of the German textile market and the cutting of the English cotton supply. Once we establish a market in South America, it will be a permanent one."

Other agents said that South American orders were already being received.

A clever game to work an Eliot man with a film from game was busted up by the Eliot man refusing to bite at the bait offered.

A prominent Eliot man, a man well advanced in years, was in this city one day last week on business and on Market street he was spoken to by a well dressed man, who inquired if he could give him any information about the local banks. He stated that his reason for asking was because he was from Boston and wanted to purchase some property in Eliot. He knew the Eliot man apparently and referred to his living in Boston some years ago and spoke familiarly of people whom the Eliot man knew. After a while the Eliot man made an appointment with the stranger to meet him in Eliot on a certain day and show him about.

On the day appointed the man appeared at the Eliot man's home in a carriage and they started to look about. Coming to a cross road the stranger suggested that they go that way, and finally prevailed on the Eliot man to go. They were driving through a wooded section when a man stepped from the bushes. He was wearing automobile goggles and a duster and stopped the carriage asking where the Cushing station was. He said that he was a stranger here and wanted to get his suit case which was at the station, but he had wandered until he did not know where he was.

After some conversation he said that if he had a table he would show them a trick producing at the same time a pack of cards. The stranger with the Eliot man suggested that he try it on the blanket and he did. It was the old trick of three card monte and the stranger immediately bet $5.00 on a card and of course, won. He won the second time and then suggested to the Eliot man that he try, but he was wise and refused to bite, but insisted that they drive on. Both the others protested but he insisted and they finally did and as soon as they got on the main road the Eliot man bid the others good bye and went home. It developed later that they had worked up the scheme to get some of the old gentleman's money. He was grateful to get away for he had a good sum on him and he was afraid that they would rob him before he could get away.

Later he came to this city and reported the case to the local police.

AMERICANS WARNED TO LEAVE

Rome, via Paris, Aug. 26.—The American embassy, through the consuls has advised all Americans in Italy to return home now, while communications between Europe and the United States are free. Later, it is said, complications may arise rendering transportation difficult. The warning adds "Americans doing otherwise remain at their own risk."

The Messrs. Ella A. and Lillian Dame of Eliot are on a vacation trip to points of interest in New York state.

Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria And His Heir, Grand Duke Charles.

When the Austro-Serbian war began, followed so closely by the general European war, the world hardly expected that Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary would live through it. While the early battles of the general conflict were raging the aged ruler celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday. It was in feeble health, and the prospect of thousands of his subjects being killed in battle apparently preyed on his mind. The emperor began his long reign sixty-six years ago. During that time his monarchy was often torn by internal conflicts of his diverse races. His family troubles and domestic tribulations are a part of European history. Following the double assassination of Grand Duke Frederick Ferdinand and his wife Grand Duke Charles Francis Joseph, another nephew of the emperor, became heir to the throne.

A clever game to work an Eliot man with a film from game was busted up by the Eliot man refusing to bite at the bait offered.

After some conversation he said that if he had a table he would show them a trick producing at the same time a pack of cards. The stranger with the Eliot man suggested that he try it on the blanket and he did. It was the old trick of three card monte and the stranger immediately bet $5.00 on a card and of course, won. He won the second time and then suggested to the Eliot man that he try, but he was wise and refused to bite, but insisted that they drive on. Both the others protested but he insisted and they finally did and as soon as they got on the main road the Eliot man bid the others good bye and went home. It developed later that they had worked up the scheme to get some of the old gentleman's money. He was grateful to get away for he had a good sum on him and he was afraid that they would rob him before he could get away.

A prominent Eliot man, a man well advanced in years, was in this city one day last week on business and on Market street he was spoken to by a well dressed man, who inquired if he could give him any information about the local banks. He stated that his reason for asking was because he was from Boston and wanted to purchase some property in Eliot. He knew the Eliot man apparently and referred to his living in Boston some years ago and spoke familiarly of people whom the Eliot man knew. After a while the Eliot man made an appointment with the stranger to meet him in Eliot on a certain day and show him about.

On the day appointed the man appeared at the Eliot man's home in a carriage and they started to look about. Coming to a cross road the stranger suggested that they go that way, and finally prevailed on the Eliot man to go. They were driving through a wooded section when a man stepped from the bushes. He was wearing automobile goggles and a duster and stopped the carriage asking where the Cushing station was. He said that he was a stranger here and wanted to get his suit case which was at the station, but he had wandered until he did not know where he was.

FROM THE BALL MAGNATE'S SIDE

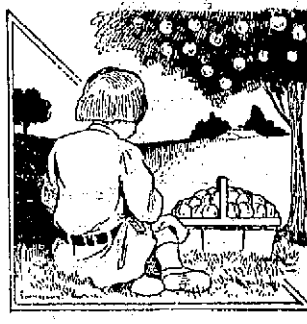

Garry Herrmann, the president of the Cincinnati National League team, in an article in the September Baseball Magazine says:

"They accuse us of buying and selling men at the auction block! They say that we have made organized baseball into a condition of slavery, and regard a man only by what he can be sold for—that we have ceased to view baseball as a sport, and look on it as a hopper, grinding ball players into mere articles of machinery. They have painted the men in organized baseball in deep black colors and the time has come when for the sake of the game, and in the interest of fair play and true sport, the real facts should be made known.

"It was in 1911 that my relations with Marsans began. I want to say at the outset that he is a good ball player, a very good ball player, in fact. Indeed my statement of my steady increase in salary we have given him is alone sufficient to show the high value we attach to him. The situation which has no developed does not reflect in any way on Mr. Marsans' ability. And now to continue my story.

"We bought Marsans from the New Britain club and paid $5000 for his release, which included also the services of player Almeida, another Cuban. Marsans was receiving $150 a month from New Britain. We started him in June of 1911 at $350 a month, and increased this the next year to $400, and last season to $450 for the season of six months, or nearly $900 a month. Last winter we sent him to Cuba on an offer of $2800. He wrote back and asked $4400 per season for a period of two seasons. I have the letter now with his own signature, setting forth his terms and agreeing to play two years for this figure. In other words we met his proposition without any argument, feeling that we were giving him a fair deal, and one which entitled us to fair treatment in return. You must bear in mind that a baseball contract is a business proposition, representing one of the principal assets of a club. It is absolutely essential to have such a contract clear and definite and when, as in the case of Marsans, it was drawn according to his own suggestion, we felt justified in regarding it as final.

"This was the situation when a bombshell was exploded in the announcement that Marsans was negotiating with the Federal league. We at once took up the matter with him, and I asked him point blank what he considered his services worth. He responded $7000 a year and I rejoined that it was utterly impossible for us to get together. That is the figure he was offered by the Federal league with a $7000 advance. Marsans jumped to St. Louis and we took the course which any other business man would have taken under the same circumstances. We brought the matter into the court on the contention that Mr.

is never complete without its appropriate accompaniment of well-selected fruit. Any small boy can tell you that the whole family dote on

ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE

Marsans was clearly violating his contract, assured that our contention was entirely legal. As a matter of fact the courts upheld our claims and decided absolutely in our favor. The matter was appealed to a higher tribunal in whose hands the issue rests at this date. I am convinced that we will be again upheld, and that the case will be decided the second time against Marsans.

"The case is very distinctly expressed in Clauses 7 and 8 of the accepted contract of every player of the National league. Let me give Clause 8 verbatim, as further illustrating my point:

"The player agrees to perform for the club and for no other party during the period of this contract, unless with the written consent of the club, such duties pertaining to the exhibition of the game of baseball as may be required of him of said club, at such reasonable times and places as said club may designate."

"During the season of 1913 more than $500,000 was spent by the National and American leagues in the purchase and drafting of players. This money was distributed through forty minor leagues. In the case of teams of the two higher classes of the minor only one player can be drafted by the larger organizations. This means that the half million dollars expended last year was very evenly distributed over the country. It is said that even if this is so, the money goes not to the player, who has been developed, but to the club owner, who sells him as he would a chattel slave.

How many of the players stop to consider that if this system were not in practice, there would be no opportunity for development, no system of advancement, in short, no organized baseball at all? It is a proven fact that practically none of the smaller ball clubs are able to make expenses from the gate receipts. They are supported in the main by donations from the business men of their communities, who are interested either in the game, or who feel it is a business aid to promote civic loyalty in the town. The only chance of a profit for the small club is in the development and sale of an untalented player. The club must be understood to pay the player his salary and expenses regardless of whether it wins or loses during the season. If there is a loss it does not come out of the pockets of the player, not a dollar of it. And in nine cases out of ten, the apprenticeship of the minor league player amounts to a virtual schooling, given to him not only free of charge, but for which he is paid a good salary.

"I am well satisfied to leave the whole matter to the American public's sense of fair play. I have presented the situation as frankly as I know how, and I am content to leave the answer to any jury, deciding the situation on its merits."

POLICE NEWS.

Three drunks, one street walker, and two for evading car taxes were booked at the police station on Wednesday evening.

The street walker was Edna Kittie, arrested by Officer Philbrick. She has been before the court before and recently was released from Brentwood.

Two for evading fares were tramped taken from the front end of the Pullman on Wednesday evening, on complaint of railroad police.

This has been a strenuous month with the police. They have made over two hundred arrests and more than half have been before the court. Wednesday there were eleven cases before the court.

PHOTOGRAPHERS ARE UNPOPULAR IN PRESENT WAR

New York, August 25.—If the warring powers of Europe are able to carry out their plans, this is destined to be a war without pictures. Since the first hint of hostilities, this country has been flooded with pictures of mobilization, the gathering of troops in England, France, Belgium and Austria-Hungary. The first fighting broke out ahead of time when the Belgians so heroically and unexpectedly opposed the Germans. That was not according to schedule.

Belgium at the outset allowed some correspondents and photographers within her lines, and for several weeks there have been many Belgian war pictures in circulation. But from now on authentic war pictures are likely to be scarce.

Information considered reliable has reached here that the Kaiser has issued orders that any man caught by his troops in the field with a camera will be shot. Similar information has been received about orders issued by the French. Should these reports prove correct, in substance, the prospects of making a photographic record of the great war are distinctly discouraging.

Still the war photographers have not given up hope. Tacit persistence has worked wonders before, and it may accomplish results again before this war has advanced far. As soon as developments showed that war was inevitable, many American photographers hurried to England to see what could be done in the matter of war pictures. In all of the capitals these photographers are now waiting, bringing to bear all the influence possible to obtain permission to go with the armies, and ready to seize any chance, take any risk, to get pictures of the real fighting.

Some of the best newspaper and magazine photographers of America are now in Europe, and it is certain that if there be the slightest opportunity they will make pictures. In the first heat of mobilization, photographs were made everywhere, and these have been coming to the United States by every ship.

So far as moving pictures are concerned, no American company has yet proposed a partnership arrangement with the Kaiser for a series of movies. There seems to be a feeling that the Franco-British precedent might not hold good in Europe.

In the present contest conditions are not of the sort to appeal to any photographer who understands them. The battles are certain to be of stupendous proportions, and very bloody. The majority of them are sure to be so widespread as to be beyond the range of any camera or artist to depict an a whole.

Yet if a clever operator had only been in one of the forts at Lille, he might have made a splendid pictorial record of some of the German charges. Some wonderful improvements have recently been made in moving picture cameras. With the ordinary lens it is necessary to be no more than 200 feet away from the subject at the farthest.

But recently the telephoto lens has been adapted to the moving picture camera. The most powerful of these can make a picture of a man at 600 yards, as big as to fill the plate. Only one of these extraordinarily powerful lenses has so far been manufactured, and it is the property of a French moving picture concern, but it is in the present war there should come opportunitly for pictures. It is certain that many photographers will order one of the long range instruments.

The possibility of such a lens in photographing a battle may be understood when it is remembered experience has taught that most of the fighting is done at ranges of 100 to 400 yards. That is proved by the zones of rifles. Military surgeons have found that twenty per cent of the losses have occurred at ranges of 100 yards or over; 60 per cent occur at ranges from 100 to 400 yards; ten per cent in the final rush, and ten per cent in the pursuit.

So with a lens capable of making pictures at from 600 to 800 yards, a photographer could make an excellent photographic record of the hottest battle, were it not for two difficulties. One of these is that for the most part the soldiers are lying flat on the ground, or are behind ramparts. The other is that bullets have not yet been invented that will discriminate between the enemy and non-combatant photographer.

PRICE OF FLOUR
ADVANCES

Raise of 25 Cents a Barrel Due to Advance of Wheat.

Flour prices advanced again yesterday. Wholesalers announced a jump of 25 cents per barrel as soon as they learned of a 5 and 1-2 cent rise per bushel in western wheat. Most retailers followed suit.

While $8 still remained the high quotation per barrel in the retail market, several dealers declared that it would probably advance to at least $8.25 today.

Sugar did not advance during the day. One large Boston retailer announced a reduction in his prices from 7 3-4 to 7 cents per pound. Others were getting 7 1-2 and 8 cents.

Butter, cheese eggs and groceries, generally showed no material advance yesterday. Beans, however, which have been steadily advancing with the general trend toward war prices on foodstuffs dropped off ten cents a bushel. Retailers' purchases, however, did not feel the change much.

FIREMEN AT DOVER.

This City Sends Good Delegation to Take Part in the Parade.

In the firemen's parade at Dover today the department from this city will be well represented. Five men from each company, headed by Chief W. F. Woods will be found in the ranks. Many former firemen from Portsmouth will also go up and take a look at the march. Most of the local men made the trip by automobile.
 We venture to say that there will be no finer looking lot of fire fighters than the Portsmouth bravest in the line of march.
